Steel pay goes up as union rejects concessions

By BILL WINTER

of the Press-Record

The good news is that thousands of Granite City steelworkers received pay raises effective yesterday.

"The bad news is that no agreement was reached on 'givebacks' in the third year of the 1980-83 contract, leading to predictions by employees and management of more plant closings and more layoffs across the U.S. in the financially-troubled steel industry."

James Kelahan, a United Steelworkers staff representative in Granite City, returned here alone with presidents of steel locals after a meeting in Pittsburgh on Friday at which the presidents unanimously rejected proposed concessions.

There was widespread sentiment to grant some concessions, but those which were proposed by the eight largest steelmakers were viewed as excessive.

Kelahan told the Press-Record, "We proposed that no agreement be reached, but there really was no alternative."

The session that took place was a gathering of the 633-member basic steel industry conference.

Kelahan estimated that steel employees' three-year pay hikes will average 23 cents an hour, plus five to six cents an hour in cost-of-living wage increases.

J. Bruce Johnston, chief management negotiator for the steel industry, said the Aug. 1, 1982, raise may add 75 cents an hour to overall labor costs, which he said exceed $23 an hour in some plants.

At the time the current pact went into effect in August 1980, it was said by some officials to involve a 42 percent advance over the three years, including pay raises and fringe benefit improvements.

Johnston, international Steelworkers president and formerly director of the union's St. Louis district, recommended rejection of the steelmakers' contract revision plan.

Friday, saying it would create an excessive social impact on employees' income and living expenses, he voiced disappointment that no mutually agreeable settlement was reached.

Buddy W. Davis, District 34 director and chairman of the union's National Steel Corp. bargaining committee, expressed similar disappointment and said there were concerns over further loss of jobs in the steel industry.

Kelahan sensed a general feeling that the rank-and-file might have been willing to accept concessions amounting to $2 billion, but he estimated that $8 billion in "givebacks" was being sought by company negotiators, and without the firms giving job security provisions.

He said the climate might have been better for an agreement had there not been large numbers of unresolved grievances at various plants over a period of many months. He termed the management group's proposal too one-sided.

"They wanted to take back pay increases, cost-of-living raises, pensions, vacations and other contract provisions," he said.

Kelahan said the unanimous vote by presidents of union locals across the nation was based on a recommendation by the union's board of directors after talks had failed to make sufficient headway Thursday night. The third year of the existing agreement then went into effect automatically on the morning of Aug. 1.

Although the new bargaining deadline is a year from now, the union has agreed to an earlier change if both sides can agree on the terms.

A national union spokesman said steelmakers' new three-year proposal called for a wage freeze until Aug. 1, 1983, and a 50-cent ceiling on cost-of-living adjustments in each of the three years. The other funds earmarked for raises would have gone to a supplemental unemployment fund to help workers on layoffs.

Employees hired standing now would have been paid less, and there no longer would be joint bargaining with the major firms, the spokesman said.

He added that satisfactory guarantees were lacking, including procedures for the investment of billions of dollars from labor cost savings. The union wanted such money to be used to modernize steel plants and keep them competitive with foreign steel manufacturers, it was asserted.

In calling for renewal of the contract a year before its expiration, Johnston, chief negotiator for the eight largest steel companies, said this spring that steelworkers' pay "has passed all reasonable bounds."

Employees in the industry in which labor costs represent about 40 percent of total production costs, we are attempting to carry a burden which the marketplace will not support."

Six of the eight firms have reported losses this year. National Steel, owner

Madison cuts budget 25%, lowers salaries

Madison aldermen at a special meeting Thursday night slashed their city budget 25 percent, from $2,290,625 for the May 1982-April 1983 year. The 1981-82 total was $3,051,672 a year ago.

A comparison of the two budgets shows a pay cut of about 4½ percent for many employees.

Ordinance 1011 states in Section 4 that the budget is set by the mayor and city officers, except those who are elected for a definite term, and all employees of the City of Madison shall not be set by the amounts in this appropriation."

Ordinance but by separate resolution or ordinance. In no event shall said salaries or wages exceed those provided for in this appropriation, divided for the respective position."

Items budgeted in the general fund total $1,346,508, down from $1,381,472 a year ago.

All other funds total $944,119, compared to $1,660,200 in the 1981-82 budget. Non-mandatory cuts were in shopping center projects, $26,000 budgeted for 1982-83 compared to $613,000 a year ago, and the alarm department budget, $147,350 compared to $147,620 in '81-'82 for cable television and the city council system.

The city council is scheduled to meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday and is accepting until that time sealed bids on equipment and supplies to be used for the city's alarm service.

Budgets for the non-general accounts, in addition to the alarm and shopping center allocations, were cut by $1,000,000.

Reserve sharing, $139,200 ($146,000 a year ago), Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund $90,000 (same), police pension fund, $75,000 (same), playgrounds and recreation $50,019 ($49,500), public library $36,650 ($36,280), special improvements $29,500 ($27,000), fire department insurance $7,000 ($5,800), ambulance service $3,000 ($2,250), emergency services $2,000 ($1,500), Economic Development Administration project none ($137,000), public benefits none ($7,000), working cash none ($5,000) and special revenue, none ($5,000).

A general fund breakdown follows:

Police $330,881 ($340,060 a year ago), fire department $103,275 ($82,860), streets and alleys $204,601 ($187,345), refuse department $168,083 ($259,300), executive department $33,299 ($34,095), legislative department $29,500 ($31,000), city manager $21,000 ($21,250), legal department $19,300 ($16,100), medical department $19,300 ($19,250), health and human services $7,950 ($8,180), sewer department $9,072 ($98,950), finance and accounting $49,800 ($42,122), municipal buildings $35,877 ($31,425), building inspections $21,310 ($22,310), police

MEDICAL AID is given to Patrolman Marion Hubbard of the East St. Louis Police Department Sunday night after his squad car crashed into 81 Grenzer Homes, Washington and Collinsville avenues, Madison. Additional details appear inside today's issue. The policeman was in pursuit of a motorcycle when his car struck another car at the intersection, pushing it into a parked car, then jumped the curb and hit the apartment building. Five persons were injured in the accident.

Venice man is burned in house fire

Otis "Hobo" Robinson, 32, of 331 rear Weaver St., Venice, suffered severe burns over 75 percent of his body and smoke inhalation in a fire at his home at 3:05 a.m. Saturday.

Due to Robinson's serious condition, and not wanting to wait for an ambulance, members of the Venice Police Department took the injured man by squad car to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

He was given initial treatment at the local hospital and was transferred immediately to the Burns Unit at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis.

The blaze started in the kitchen area of the two-family frame and brick dwelling, owned by Jack Boxley, where Robinson apparently was cooking.

It is theorized that Robinson may have become ill and fallen to the floor, leaving the unattended food on the stove to catch fire and ignite his clothing.

The burned man was found lying on the kitchen floor. Estimates of damage caused by the blaze were not available.

Under an interim agreement, ambulance service in Venice presently is being provided by Officer's Funeral Home in East St. Louis.

CONGRATULATIONS are extended by Dr. E. L. Strotheide, left, to Betty Petersen, a certified chiropractic assistant, upon her 11th year of employment at his offices, 3412 Nameoki Road. Mrs. Petersen has received training in courses at Houston, Dallas, Las Vegas and the Logan College of Chiropractic in Chesterfield, Mo.

Hiring by college

Numerous personnel were hired at the late July meeting of the Belleville Area College Board of Trustees. Announcement of several grants also was on the agenda.

Nancy Miller was appointed office manager in the Admissions and Records Office, a new position in the college. She holds a bachelor degree in speech communication from Monmouth College.

She has served two and a half years as assistant director of admissions and records at Lincoln Trail Community College in IL.

LaVerne Peters was appointed director of basic reading and English as a second language in the Basic Education Department. She served as assistant professor of education at Fontbonne University in St. Louis.

She also worked in basic reading at the University of Missouri and Harris Teachers College, as a reading specialist for Parkway High School and as director of the Center of Learning in St. Louis.

In addition, she has been published frequently in the area of reading and in July addressed the International Reading Conference in Dublin, Ireland.

Other appointments made were: Garnett Shorb, nursing education instructor; Sharon Banjavic, data processing instructor; Kay Birkett, temporary records clerk; and Vicki Weber, athletic department secretary.

Weber will also serve as cheerleader coach.

Athletic coaches were appointed during the meeting. Appointed were: Janet Lynch Switzer, as softball and Women's basketball coach; Larry Petri, soccer coach; and Al Velle, volleyball coach.

Notice was given of grant awards for the Demand and Response Transportation System program.

DARTS provides transportation for senior citizens to such destinations as medical facilities and grocery stores. Grants were awarded for DARTS services in St. Louis and St. Louis County.

Col. Dacey noted, "The recommended solution to the sedimentation problem on the western side of the Mississippi entails the construction of an 'L' dike or similar structure designed to provide reliable water transport access to the St. Louis Municipal Dock area.

also facilitate redevelopment of 300 acres of land adjacent to the port for transportation. Extensive model testing of the 'L' dike, including other configurations, is needed before this project is initiated.

The recommended harbor im-

TAVERNS HOUR ARREST

Margaret L. Brim, 28, of 2121a Grand Ave., an employee, was charged with violating city laws by closing bars after curfew. She alleged five people were drinking at the Wayside Tavern, 2160 Washington Ave., at 2:50 a.m. Friday.

Counselors will be available from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 18, and Thursday, Aug. 26, to go over test scores and advise students.

The tests will be from 9 a.m. to noon on the Washington Avenue, 2600 W. 20th St., Granite City.

The first hour will be math testing; the last two hours will be English testing. No one will be admitted after 9 a.m.

There is no registration for the test and no charge.

Students are to bring several items.

For information, Quad-Cityans may call Pat Evans at the BAC main campus, 235-2700, extension 333.

harbor facilities at and in the vicinity of St. Louis. It was adopted by the Senate Committee on Public Works on May 26, 1971.

"The purpose of this study (intensified two years ago) has been to investigate current and projected conditions in the Port of Metropolitan St. Louis, and to evaluate the engineering, economic and environmental feasibility of a variety of alternative harbor improvements.

"The study area coincides with the Port of Metropolitan St. Louis, which includes the Mississippi River, its tributaries and its banks, both on the southern boundary of Jefferson County, Mo., and the northern boundary of Madison County, Ill., a distance of 70 river miles.

"In addressing the potential harbor improvements, the study has placed primary emphasis on the availability of industrial port facilities, industrial development, and sedimentation problems for existing as well as proposed terminals.

"Throughout this effort, the Corps' planning team has met with interested individuals at public meetings and representatives of local business groups, all port authorities and districts, major state and federal transportation and environmental agencies, and local and regional planning agencies.

"The recommended plan consists of two parts:

"1. A structural solution to the most severe sedimentation problem in the study area, at River Mile 182 on the Missouri bank. (The dike would extend 200 feet from the Missouri bank and 2,800 feet into the river, about 10 blocks.)

"2. Harbor improvements at River Mile 185 along the east bank of the Chain of Rocks Canal in Illinois."

Troop Seven tours Washington, D.C.

Boy Scout Troop Seven, sponsored by St. Joseph Catholic Church, have returned from a nine-day trip to Washington, D.C., in conjunction with the "Adventure '82" scouting project.

The group traveled by Amtrak and stayed at Hotel Harrington in downtown Washington, which was well enough received at all points of interest the group planned to visit.

Members of the troop participated in planning and sponsoring fund raising projects throughout the year to insure funds for a balanced summer program. During the trip they walked an estimated 150 miles to view interesting sites and historic places, according to the scouts.

After assembling on the grounds of St. Joseph Church, the Rev. Jack Kiburg, M.S.F., associate pastor and chaplain at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, offered a session; they departed for Chicago as first stop on the itinerary.

While in Chicago, the scouts visited Sears Tower, the largest in the world, and the John Hancock Building, which has a revolving deck on the 95th floor. They also attended mass at St. Peter Church and then boarded the Amtrak for Washington, D.C. Along the way they were able to view the famous "steel battleship boat" outside of Pittsburgh, and the mountains in Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia.

After arriving at their destination the group visited the U.S. Army Museum and G&O Canal, took a subway ride, and toured the National Archives, National Air and Space Museum and Lincoln Memorial.

One day was spent in Baltimore where the group visited Fort McHenry, the birthplace of the National Anthem, Harborplace, the National Aquarium and the Maryland Science Center. After the tour they attended a crab feast and later had dinner at Burke's Restaurant in Baltimore.

The local scouts went to the Capitol Building where they saw a guided tour of the House of Representatives and visited the Library of Congress, Ford's Theatre, the Petersen House, and the FBI Building where they were taken on a guided tour. After a dinner of Mexican food, the scouts stopped at the National Air and Space Museum and later hosted an ice cream treat in celebration of Scout Mark Brazeal's 14th birthday.

A tour of the White House was arranged by Senator Charles Percy followed by a trip to the Bureau of

EOC plans food center in Madison

The Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission has applied for membership in the Food Crisis Network in St. Louis. Formal approval is expected in August or early September.

As a member of the network, Madison County EOC would be able to buy large quantities of food for a nominal cost and then distribute the food throughout Madison and St. Clair counties, EOC Executive Director Ruben J. Williams said.

John Ervin is chairman of the MEOC board. Three food centers are to be established — in Alton, Madison and East St. Louis. From these three centers, food is to be donated to charitable organizations that provide on-site meal services.

In addition, emergency food baskets are to be prepared for families unable to purchase food for themselves.

Williams said, "These food centers will provide a direct means of alleviating nutritional problems affecting the elderly and needy of the Metro East area."

For further information, people may contact Ed Taft, Madison County EOC, 4105 Humboldt Road, Alton 62002 or call 463-0025."

Town topics — Gorbe and collection issue

The Nameoki Town Board received word from Irvin Slatte, assistant Granite City attorney, that annexation of the Gorbe subdivision to the city is possible if the area is wholly surrounded by city boundaries.

The subdivision streets would be completely surrounded if a strip of Maryville Road at Buenger Boulevard, owned by the Granite City Trust and Saving Bank, is annexed.

Helen Briges, Nameoki Township supervisor, said, "A lot of the people don't want to go into Granite City." Under Illinois law, any property annexed by a coextensive city-territory is removed from the neighboring township. No final decision has been made on the proposed annexation.

The board allowed Helen Hawkins, a Nameoki Township trustee, to read a letter not addressed to her.

"It deals with her resignation as treasurer of the Madison County Township Officials.

Mrs. Hawkins said in the letter that she was "embarrassed" at the July 22 meeting where her name was mentioned.

Attempting to resign from her position as treasurer several months ago, when she originally submitted her resignation, some of the county's township officials asked that she remain an officer until the July meeting.

Williams said, "She agreed to do so."

The disagreement between Mrs. Hawkins and others in the group stems from differing opinions about the need to have higher tax collectors. Mrs. Hawkins notes that "less than a handful are active" and takes the position that all tax collection should be handled by the county treasurer.

Steel pay of Granite City Steel, lost $90 million in the first six months of 1982.

Steelworkers have been described as the highest-paid manufacturing and industrial workers in America, with wage and benefit increases said to have risen 19 percent since 1973 to certain points.

Company officers have addressed this summer to describe the impact of lower prices and revenue.

Some American workers are said to receive $10 an hour more than similar employees in Japanese steel mills. Japanese and other foreign producers have been capturing an increasing share of the domestic steel market.

There has been no industry-wide strike for more than two decades. Under an "experimental negotiating agreement" (ENA) in effect since 1973, without adequate review and justification.

Johnston said Friday night, "We had hoped for help. We did not receive help." "Rising imports and depressed prices are the main culprit," he said. Unemployed steelworkers, battered steel communities and the nation are dismayed at the refusal."

McBride said companies asked for too much in givebacks and refused to consider the Steelworkers' counteroffer.

He added, "The union and the industry have spent a great deal of time trying to find answers to our mutual problems, and we simply have failed."

"We were prepared to recommend to our leadership some sacrifices, but the proposal went too far. Our members would have been substantially worse off," McBride concluded.

Harbor praised

"It has in excess of 1,500 acres of land to back it up — land that is ready for development. The area is serviced by the Norfolk and Southern Railroad, which services the heart of the entire Midwest. It also services the major steel mills and makes connections with seven other major railroads. The area is served by over 200 trucking companies."

"The Tri-City Port handles more than 3,000 shipping containers across its docks each year, for a product value in excess of $100,000,000. Our Port District draws cargo from a radius of 250 miles," Ranft noted.

"Another important factor to keep in mind is the industry that is located beside the port. The port is a major source of steel from National Steel to processors such as Southwest Steel, Michigan Metals, Ferallow and Precast Metals. These plants will help to attract steel processors and related steel users."

First Baptist to host film showing

• "Reflections Of His Love," a new film highlighting the life and ministry of Joni Eareckson, will be shown on Aug. 8, Sunday, at the First Baptist Church, 201 Delmar Ave. • The film, produced by World Wide Pictures, the film ministry of the Billy Graham Association, will be shown once, beginning at 7:30 p.m. • Miss Eareckson is the star of the film, "Joni," which relates the story of her diving accident, as a young girl, which left her paralyzed from the neck down. It chronicles her struggle, one piece at a time, in her life and her faith in God, in spite of the devastating circumstances.

In "Reflections Of His Love," Miss Eareckson, who is also the author of two best-selling books, "Joni" and "A Step Further," tells of the great transformations that have taken place in her life because of her willingness to accept Jesus Christ as her savior. Her life has been displayed in major exhibitions, as well as on a number of network television programs. More recently, her paintings and writings have become the basis for a major line of greeting cards, plaques, and framed prints, according to the Rev. Jack J. Ciccone, senior pastor of First Baptist.

Pastor Ciccone has extended an open invitation to the community at large to attend this special screening. There is no admission charge.

SENATE OKAYS DIXON TAX LEASING BILL

The U.S. Senate has approved an amendment, sponsored by Senator Alan J. Dixon, to the Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 1982, which allows small businesses to receive the same benefits of tax leasing provisions of the law as large businesses.

Passed by voice vote, the measure would amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1982 to clarify application of "strategic sales" to certain safe harbor leasing situations. Currently, closely-held corporations are permitted to be the lessees, but not the lessors, of tax benefits.

Rousing finish at ICC hearing on IP rate proposals

By GEORGEANN McGEE
of the Press-Record

Retired union president Floyd Miller, 77, of 2451 Missouri Ave., gave a rousing closing speech for the crowd that had been packed for almost three hours inside the Granite City Civic Center Building last week to protest against proposed electric and natural gas rate increases.

"Things were brought out that agitated him," said his wife, Cecil Miller.

Miller is no stranger to public speaking, even though a while has passed since he last spoke before union members of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers at the former Miles Laboratories plant in Granite City.

"I'm fed up," Miller told Illinois Commerce Commission (ICC) representatives at the public hearing. "I get boiled up everytime I go down to pay my bill."

Waving a paper in his hand and addressing most of his remarks directly to the ICC public hearing officer—no members of the commission were present—Miller delivered his remarks in such impassioned tones that the words became difficult to understand at times.

But Miller nevertheless got his message across clearly enough for what he audience already primed for what he had to say.

"I feel like I've been let down," Miller asserted. "I don't feel too good." To the former union president, escalating costs—particularly utility bills—have gotten out of hand: "I feel like I've been taxed without representation."

Miller said he has been a resident of Granite City since 1919, and now faces life on a limited income. He wondered aloud how he would cope if utility bills become so high that his ability to pay them ends.

"I'm a human being," Miller said, trying to emphasize a plight that was very real to him, while attempting to also view his circumstances on a more universal level: "I don't like to see people hurt."

Then he turned his wrath to the central issue of the evening, Illinois Power. It is the state's largest power plant. The retired man told the gathering that he pays his own bills. "Let Illinois Power pay their own bills," he urged.

Miller said he would hope that living costs and incomes could balance. "I'm 77 years old...I can't get a job anymore," he said. "I'm being taken, and I don't like it."

He told the ICC representatives that the commissioners they are working for are not listening to the people, despite numerous public hearings on utility rate proposals.

Turning to the people around him, he appealed to them to become involved in their own fates. "You are the majority," he asserted.

Miller said he had come to speak "his piece," regardless of whether his remarks were pleasant, citing his right to air his views—up to a point. "Illinois Power would sue me, if I told them what I really think," he concluded.

Irate utility customers vent anger over proposed rate increases

More than 700 angry Illinois Power customers attended the Illinois Commerce Commission hearing last week on the utility company's proposed rate increases on electric and natural gas.

Representing IP at the three-hour hearing (top left photo) were William Van Susteren, a company attorney; Carl Mathias, local service area manager; Gary Shandor, director of rate research for the utility; Chris Olsen, assistant to Mathias; and Fred Cunningham, commercial office supervisor in Granite City.

William Steiner (above) representing the Madison Concerned Citizens, the group which organized the public hearing, took those attending the hearing and voices his opposition to the rate hikes. At left is Mrs. Maxine Tawney, one of 50 speakers at the hearing, voicing her opinions on the proposed utility rate hikes.

Several Granite City officials added their voices to those of 50 speakers at the Illinois Commerce Commission hearing last week. Representing the city were Mayor Paul Schuler and Aldermen Casmer Skubish and Warren Decatur; David Parney, school board member, also spoke.

The mayor asked the commission to consider the "rather depressed conditions" here, citing the more than 17 percent unemployment rate in Granite City. The mayor said his city has traditionally served as the hub of employment in the Quad-City area demonstrating the full impact of those unemployment statistics.

"I would at least urge you to delay this (rate hike) because of the economic conditions of our people," Schuler said.

Skubish and Decatur, both who earlier this year traveled to Springfield in protest of the proposed gas and electric rate hikes, emphasized the effect higher rates would have on city government expenses. The aldermen said eventually the tax payer would receive a double jolt of higher utility bills and taxes.

Paddlers' divers edge Montclaire; sink SWISA

By NANCY WEIL

of the Press-Record

Paddlers' diving coach Gayle McCormick was visibly nervous Saturday during the Southwestern Illinois Swimming Association conference diving championships at Sunset Hills Country Club in Edwardsville. Mrs. McCormick had been asked to judge the meet, and she said she was nervous because she had never judged before.

"The inconsistency in some scores came about because only three of five judges were from AAU. The intent was to have five AAU judges so that none of those officiating would have had any personal contact with the divers or has seen any of the divers perform before," Mrs. McCormick said.

But she did not want that way. Some of the judges scored divers high, others scored them low. For instance, Miss Crane's inward dive scored a six and a seven from two judges and then five from two others.

"With that combination of judges you get a mixed year-hands," Mrs. McCormick said and added that a few of the judges had little knowledge of scoring criteria. Inconsistency aside, the Paddlers' divers managed to overcome scoring problems.

But there was another disadvantage that the Paddlers' divers faced the most. At the SWISA conference championships, divers are required to dive more than at usual meets. For instance, the 15 to 18 age group performs eight dives compared to the usual six. The 13 and 14 age group dives six times compared to five. The 11 and 12 age group performs five dives compared to four and the 10 and under group dives four times compared to three.

Each diver has their own specialty dives which they work on throughout the season, but then along comes the conference.

Tom Seneccyn, who won the boys 10 and under division, was supposed to do his front dive with a pike position, instead he did a lay-out and the dive was ruled "failed." Seneccyn was disappointed and asked his mother if it didn't hurt him. McCormick reminded him he had to do his back dive. "I told him, 'you can't think about your last dive.'"

"It was gaudy of her to dive," Mrs. McCormick said. "If she had not dove in the championships, Paddlers probably would not have won."

Instead of stitches, the cut was being held together with butterfly bandages and plenty of tape that covered her chin. She was at times obviously in pain.

"I was worried about her to dive," Mrs. McCormick said. "If she had not dove in the championships, Paddlers probably would not have won."

Mike McCormick also provided an example of what can happen during conference when a diver must perform more than usual. "I think she totally bombed out on her back dive," she said. But his front dive, now, that was a different story. "He sunk his last three dives."

Throughout the meet, however, Mrs. McCormick was not so inwardly confident. "She appears to be so good," she said. "I was down after Montclaire. I thought maybe we'd fall a second."

"I was really elated," she said after the championship win.

Mrs. McCormick said she will miss the daily practices and the team's dives. With the season being so short, many of the divers are just beginning to show real improvement. "It's a shame we have to stop," she said.

There are a couple of advantages to the season ending. Mrs. McCormick said she can now get back to cleaning house and the McCormicks went on a canoe trip yesterday.

"I told Larry (her husband) maybe I can manage to get more than hot dogs

Selected by an EIU Lettermen's Club committee, they will be honored at the Panthers 1982 opening football game on Saturday, Sept. 4.

Civics advance to national tourney

By AL BARNES

For the Press-Record

ST. LOUIS COUNTY — In an awesome display of raw batting power, plus more than adequate pitching, the Southwest Illinois Civics won the Missouri State National Baseball Competition here over the past weekend.

Yesterday, Coach Barry Hughes Civics almost completely demolished a very strong Solotar "Tuck Pointers" team, 15-2, on the diamond at Maryville College. It was the Civics' fourth straight victory in the double elimination tournament.

Chief reward for the victory was the right to represent the state at the annual NBC tournament at Wichita, Kan., Aug. 6 through 21. It will be the third year in which the Civics have advanced to Wichita; twice they finished 11th in a field of 16 teams.

The Civics gained their shot at Solotar by defeating them Saturday in a real cliff-hanger, 10-7. The Solotars had, along with the West County Browns, been awarded a "bye" in the tournament. A week ago Saturday, the Civics turned back the Cape Girardeau Capahas, 6-4, and Sunday afternoon, a week ago, a slugfest with the West County Browns, 12-8. The Browns were eliminated this past weekend by Cape, 9-8.

Yesterday, playing at 12:30, the Civics wasted no time in dominating the Solotars as they came out of the gate fast by scoring seven runs in the first three innings. The Civics' pitcher, Jack Scarborough, and Tim Gamble, Bill Stoltz and Jim Greenwald chased the Pointers' starter, Ron Gable, who was relieved by Dave Gray, ex-SIUE pitcher.

Gray promptly walked Darrell Wehrend and George Vogel. The Civics' biggert catcher, Marty Hilgenkamp, batted a double to center, Wehrend and Greenwald, John (Cookie) Victorian's triple drove in Rusty with the inning's seventh tally, Stoltz's single, his first of three hits for the game, drove in the game's first two runs.

And, after the Solotar's Roy Simmons blasted the first pitch in the second inning, the losers couldn't score again until the ninth frame.

Bill Shanks, a slender and fire-balling rightfielder for the Civics, posted his 10th victory against no losses for the season and, no doubt, will be the star for them at Wichita. He only fanned five, but had the Solotars popping up and chipping into the ground all afternoon.

Saturday's Civics victory came via the home run route: Bill Stoltz hit a two-run shot in the third frame; George Vogel did likewise in the fourth, and Tim Kavanagh followed by a two-run shot.

McDonald's' Schmitz scored one run in the first inning and another in the fifth. John Vrenick scored in the fourth inning and John Pritchard scored in the fifth.

Coral managed to get only one run throughout the game. Larry Burns claimed Coral's run in the first inning. "We have a good chance of winning the playoffs, I believe. If our pitcher Kirksey, can get loose and get his arm in shape, we should do good and we won't allow anyone to walk," Harris said. The playoffs have been moved up to the 10th, and the Civics have dropped out of the Inter-City League.

"We know we'll go to the playoffs because of Collinsville's decline, the big question is who will we play and who will win," Harris said.

Tonight is the big decision maker for Corral and McDonald's, who go up against each other once again in another double header. If Corral, now 10-6 in the season, wins both games that would put them in first place over McDonald's, 11-5.

Tonight's double header starts at 6 p.m. at Granite City High School.

NEWLY PAINTED KICKBOARD. A soccer enthusiast gives the recently painted kickboard at Granite City High School South a try. Both sides of the popular self improvement board were painted by Mary Brant, a 1982 graduate of Granite City South. This side, features the eight teams that will compete in the South's Tournament of Champions to be held this fall. On the other side is a smaller rendition of the Indian chief that adorns a wall of South's gymnasium annex. Coincidentally, a program entitled Soccer Kickboard, featuring South's coach Gene Baker as its host, will be aired for nine weeks on channel 1 on the local cable television network. The first program will be aired this Tuesday, Aug. 3 at 7 p.m.

Tom Howe named assistant

EDWARDSVILLE — Tom Howe, a former honorable mention All-American midfielder and recent graduate of the University of Southern Illinois Edwardsville, according to Athletic Director Ed Bigham.

Howe, who helped lead the Florissant Valley to the National Junior College Championship last year, played for the Cougars from 1969 until his graduation in 1971. He will rejoin his former mentor, Bob Knobloch, and begin preparations for the Cougars' quest of their 14th consecutive berth in the NCAAC National Tournament.

As a player, Howe was recognized as one of the best in the nation. After collecting 13 goals and 19 assists, including a team-high eight assists in 1971 for SIUE, Howe was drafted by the St. Louis Stars of the North American Soccer League (NASL). After three years with the Stars, Howe shifted his athletic talents to Denver and the Dynamos before closing out his playing career with the Minnesota Kicks.

As a coach, Howe will be assigned not only to on-field coaching, but will be a key ingredient in Coach Guelker's recruiting efforts.

A prep star at Christian Brothers College High School, Howe has seen the best soccer talent in the area.

"Shell has long recognized energy conservation as a social responsibility and sound business practice."

Paul Berney

Shell salutes Paul for his genuine concern for energy conservation. For Shell's sake, and for the local community.

Paul is an engineer in the area of heat transfer and energy conservation. He sees to it that every Wood River Manufacturing Complex employee knows what he or she can do to reduce energy use.

Shell had energy conservation programs long before it was popular. By exploring every opportunity we can think of to save energy, we make more of a vital resource available to the local community. Compared to our energy use of the early 1970's, we now have enough energy in our plant each day to supply the total energy needs of about 75,000 households in the St. Louis metropolitan area," says Paul.

Recent energy conservation measures at Wood River include adding insulation to pipes and tanks, adding heat recovery devices to furnaces and boilers, and improving energy efficiency through improved instrumentation and the use of computers.

Someone you know works for Shell

Shell is proud of Paul Berney. With his help, Shell's Wood River Manufacturing Complex will continue to conserve energy vital to the St. Louis metropolitan area and the nation.

Junior Legion finishes season, 6-16

By MIKE MOORE
of the Press-Record

The Granite City Junior Americans of the Metro-East finished its final game, Alton, 6-16, Tuesday night at the Granite City High School South field, finishing the season with a record of 6-16.

Pitcher Mark Vanyo doubled and right fielder Pat Cathey singled to bring Vanyo in for the Legionnaires only run.

Vanyo is the oldest member (18 years old) of our team and he's done a great job for us this year. I guess Vanyo is our ace player," Ken Sykes, coach of the junior team, said. Vanyo was one of batter on Thursday's line up.

The junior team is composed primarily of younger players with the purpose of serving the senior legion teams with a farm system.

"All but three players will be back next year to play for us. That's great for next year," Sykes said. "Catcher Matt Roe is the youngest player on the team." Sykes said. Roe will be a freshman at South next fall.

Alton dominated the junior team through most of the game allowing only three or four players to bat per inning.

Sykes made a few changes in rotations in the fourth inning. First baseman, Mike Houston, victim of a leg attack in a recent game did not start. Sykes started the game with Roger Knobloch on first base. Houston was out of last week's game so I started him," Knobloch. I replaced Knobloch during the fourth," Sykes said.

Left fielder Eric West was replaced by Bob Dietrich. Center fielder, Scott Grote, moved to short stop, while Pat Cathey replaced Grote.

Bluebirds wing girls' petite division

The Granite City Steel Credit Union Bluebirds softball team finished its season last Wednesday at Wilson Park by defeating Wilson's Temptations. The Bluebirds finished the season with a record of 12-0.

"We didn't win all of our games by such a wide margin like last night, the Indians beat us some real easy. Both games were extremely close, 20-19 and 11-4," Ron Weckman, Bluebirds coach, said.

My philosophy in coaching girls' softball is for every player to play as much as possible and learn the basics of the game. I always stress good sportsmanship during games," Weckman said.

Since the girls are all under 11 years old, coaching must be handled delicately and carefully, which is part of Weckman's philosophy.

"Sometimes when you're small, try to tell them they think you're criticizing them. They also get their feelings hurt very easily," Weckman said. "They're very emotional about the game."

Weckman said that he doesn't have any secrets for the success of his team. "Their infield is strong, they hit well and Melanie Paschedag is an exceptionally good pitcher," Weckman said.

"Our primary goal is to have a good time during a game. We win or we lose," Weckman said.

Mitchell Athletic Club will present the Bluebirds with a trophy for placing first in the girls' petite division.

Don James coaches the Bluebirds along with Weckman.

Mark Jones wins second at Gateway

The Mendoza HC under 16 soccer team defeated Bremen of West Germany, 1-0, yesterday to win the Champaign Optimists' Tournament at Champaign.

Steve Tritschuh headed a corner kick down from Tony Segobiano. Tritschuh spiked the ball and sent it in. Ed Cowley who kicked it in.

The played very well offensively and defensively. It was beautiful," Rubin Mendoza, the team coach, said.

Mendoza said the team from West Germany was good, but "a little on the rough side."

They got to the final 45 minutes. Mendoza's defeated Champaign 12-1 and Springfield, 6-1. Both preliminary games were Saturday.

"They've been playing very good," Mendoza said.

The team plays in the 17 and over tournament at Soccer for Fun beginning Aug. 7.

10—Monday, August 2, 1982, GRANITE CITY (ILL.) PRESS-RECORD
Safety award to GC school bus program

R. W. Harmon & Sons, Inc., of Belton, Mo., announced at the company's seventh annual awards banquet in Kansas City that the Granite City program had won its category of safety award and the most improved contract safety award for the period of May 1981 through April 1982.

In recognizing the Granite City manager, Jerry Smith, as the best, the program here has reduced bus accidents by 17 percent.

The category III safety award is given annually to managers of contracts which operate 60 or more vehicles.

Smith is responsible for 67 buses in Granite City and Madison. A Harmon manager since 1971, Smith was named manager of the year in 1976-77, and was the recipient of the improved safety award in 1979-80.

He also received the National Association of School Bus Contractors' golden merit award at its 1982 national convention.

Workshop on rape Aug. 14

An informational workshop designed "all aspects of rape and the myths that surround it" is scheduled Saturday, Aug. 14, at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The session, sponsored by the Rape Crisis Center at SIUE, is also an introduction to the advocacy program for prospective volunteers. It is free and open to the public.

Center director Pam Klein and attorney Stephen Robbins will instruct the workshop, giving a general educational overview of the medical, legal and psychological aspects of rape.

Sessions will meet from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. in the Multipurpose Room of the Tower Lake Commons Building on the campus.

The center needs more volunteers to answer the 24-hour Rape Hotline, 692-2121, and on weekends, according to Peggy Patti, chairperson of the volunteer committee.

The hotline is part of an advocacy service that provides volunteers to accompany rape victims to a hospital and during police questioning.

Hottline volunteers answer the telephone one night a month, she explained. The number is the same as the call to the volunteer's home. The only requirement is that the volunteer be there to answer it, she said.

Interested persons may contact Pam Sammons at the Rape Center, 692-2121. Prospective hotline volunteers may arrange for the necessary training after the workshop.

Jobless pay law change is sought

Gov. James R. Thompson is urging the Illinois Congressional delegation to support quick passage of a measure to allow Illinois and other states to continue to receive extended benefits in unemployment.

Thompson said the state may face the loss of continued extended benefits due to federal formula changes in calculating the states' insured unemployment rate. "With Illinois being one of the highest unemployment rates in the U.S., this legislation is vitally important," he said in a telegram to the delegation.

"Illinois has suffered more than any other state from trade sanctions which the federal administration has instituted and other factors beyond our control. I strongly believe this additional benefit is warranted."

Thompson said the legislation, which has been approved by the House Committee on Ways and Means, needs to be quickly approved and sent to the Senate so that Illinois and other states can receive an additional 13 weeks of extended benefits beyond the current 13-week extended benefit period.

Preliminary figures show that the insured rate of unemployment in Illinois dropped narrowly below the level needed to qualify under federal regulations to continue the extended benefits program. If those figures hold, Illinois will be dropped from the extended benefits program for at least 13 weeks until mid-November.

When extended benefits end, welfare rolls climb, he warned.

Gov. Thompson, after talking with Labor Secretary Raymond Donovan, said the state has been granted an additional week to recheck its figures.

In order for Illinois to qualify for the legislation if it is passed, Thompson said, it is necessary that the state already have a 13-week extended program in place.

Two injured, drivers cited

Two men sustained injuries in an accident involving a tanker truck and an auto on Route 3 at Broadway, Venice last week. Both vehicles were southbound.

Anthony C. Ragsdale, 27, of 32 Grenzene St., Madison, driver of the auto, was charged with transporting alcohol and driving while his license is suspended.

He was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center with a passenger in his car, Leonard Hilton, 29, of 107 Bissell St., Venice, who also was injured.

Carl H. Bulger, 39, Collinsville, driver of the truck, was charged with improper lane usage.

'Sting' aliases approved

A new law allows enforcement officers to use fictitious names in setting up police operations such as "sting" businesses, thereby avoiding possible prosecution for perjury. It was signed last week.

This legislation will clear up a problem with the current law that forces police officers seeking licenses and other documents to use their real names, possibly putting them in danger of discovery by the very criminals they are trying to catch.

Signed at an Illinois Sheriffs' Association conference in Decatur, it exempts from prosecution a police officer who uses a false name in his official capacity.

The bill was needed following a 1980 Illinois Supreme Court ruling that state law was improper for law enforcement officers to obtain documents in that case a liquor license, under an assumed name, Thompsonson said.

The exemption specifically introduced at the request of the Illinois Department of Law Enforcement. It passed both houses without opposition.

Survivor will never forget 3-death crash

By ED GURNEY
Holding up a framed picture of her two children, Bev Lehman looked from the witness stand at Arlin Davis and said emotionally, "Want you to look at what you took away from me!"

Davis, sitting next to his lawyer, Jim Walls, did not look.

His head rested on his right hand.

"Can't you look at me?"

Mrs. Lehman said, raising her voice. "Take a look at me."

That testimony was part of a hearing last week at which Davis was sentenced in connection with a New Year's Eve 1979 accident, Mrs. Lehman's husband and two children were killed in the crash.

Mrs. Lehman had asked that she be allowed to testify at the hearing.

Various pictures of the crash scene and the car had already shown at Davis' trial, and she wanted to show pictures of her daughters, she said.

Davis appeared visibly shaken during parts of her testimony. His lawyer later told reporters that Davis "has a great deal of remorse."

Before Associate Judge John Day imposed the sentence, he asked Davis if he wanted to say anything.

Much of Mrs. Lehman's statement was directed at Davis. Referring to Davis' statements about Davis' marriage and family, she said, "Mr. Davis, I would like to remind you that you have been married 31 years and have four children. I was not quite that fortunate."

She said she realized Davis had not crashed into her family's car on purpose, but when she asked him why he chose to drink and drive, she knew the chance you took. As a result of that, I lost three people I loved very much," she said.

Mrs. Lehman said John Day, who presided over the trial, indicated she was lucky that she couldn't remember the accident.

She said that she recently read the coroner's inquest report and learned that her five-year-old daughter was "half thrown" from the car, had six to eight-inch cut on her head and bled to death.

"I found out my 16-month-old baby was crushed to death on my lap," Mrs. Lehman said, her voice cracking.

She said her new husband has two small children. She said she loves them as her own, but "mine will never be replaced."

The first year and a half after the accident, she was "in limbo," Mrs. Lehman said.

"I did various things. I would normally never have done them. I would do all kinds of things, or at least that's what they tell me. It has gotten easier, but I'll never forget."

She said that when she puts her stepchildren into a car she has to worry about whether Davis is out there again.

"Three people died and you walk around as free as I am and I didn't kill anybody," she said.

Witershe said that she still sees a doctor and takes medication, the judge cut off her testimony. It was straying away from the subject of the hearing, he said.

Lehman, formerly of Granite City, is remarried and living in Venice.

As the hearing began in a Madison County courtroom in Edwardsville, Mrs. Lehman sat with her husband. He held his hand as Dey read the charges, which Davis was convicted of.

After the hearing, she did not appear happy, even though Davis' prison sentence was more than tripled, to ten years.

That man (Davis) is still out, and will appeal the 10-year sentence he was given," Mrs. Lehman said. "It'll be another year and a half before the appeal is over."

Davis had appealed the three-year sentence he received in March 1981 in connection with the New Year's Eve 1979 accident.

The appellate court upheld the conviction and ordered Davis retried.

Mrs. Lehman said some people convicted of drunk driving in accidents since hers are already in jail. "But not the man who killed my family," she said.

"Now you tell me, how does that make sense?"

It's like the old Betty Grable movies in Technicolor during World War II. It's all vicarious and romantic. "How long will 'The Love Boat' run? I say we'll go 10 years, which is what I predicted at the start. I just felt it was the perfect commercial television package. It's like the old Fitzgerald travolges where you sit back and you're taken to romantic places."

"The Love Boat," which apparently strikes a common note all over the globe. Just recently, they completed several episodes in Turkey and Greece.

"In Turkey," Gavin says,

"we're No. 1. It's us and Dallas" and "Flamingo Road," but we're the show that makes them smile.

We were there for 14 days and every day they had a front-page story about the show.

But I have to say that the press in Turkey is what you'd have to call aggressive.

They're like the National Enquirer, but more blatant.

"Wherever we go, we personify 'The Love Boat.'

They like the family feel in Turkey and Greece and the other countries. And they see the captain as a father figure.

And I think they like the stories, too.

Why the show is such a hit at home I think can be summed up in one word — escape.

It's total escape. It's like the old

Betty Grable movies in Technicolor

during World War II. It's all vicarious and romantic.

We show them a pleasant side of life and a few problems that get

"And for me as an actor — well, in one show I was sitting at the captain's table and the guest stars came over and sat down with me: Helen Hayes, Maurice Evans, Mildred Natwick and Alice Faye. I was thrilled beyond words.

"How long will 'The Love Boat' run? I say we'll go 10 years, which is what I predicted at the start. I just felt it was the perfect commercial television package. It's like the old Fitzgerald travolges where you sit back and you're taken to romantic places."

I mentioned the character of Murray Slaughter and smiled. "He was a part of my life, Murray Slaughter," said Gavin, who sees himself as a "gentle Irish poet."

And when he was tapped for the role, Gavin wrote a small biography of the character.

"I was looking to get some depth of character," Gavin says. "Murray, as I saw him, was out of New York and he wanted to study journalism at Columbia but the money ran out and he ended up at City College instead. And there, for the school paper, he wrote a sports column which he called —

"Yes?"

"Slaughter's House" is what he called it," Gavin said, wincing properly.

"Well, he was a young sportswriter and they do such things. Then he started covering beauty contests and traveling around and he ended up in Minneapolis where he interviewed Miss Minneapolis and he married her and they had six kids."

"Wasn't Murray just a little bit in love with Mary?"

Gavin shook his head.

"He liked her," he said.

"Murray liked Mary a lot but he loved his wife, Marie. All those similar names — Murray, Mary, Marie, and in one show we had a kid named Mario who drove a snow truck. A wonder the viewers didn't get confused."

Gavin says his favorite episode was the one wherein he was summoned to fill in as a newscaster.

"It was a funny show. Ted Baxter is sick and Murray does the news. But it turns out that Murray was rotten in front of the camera and, what's more, he has a bigger ego even than Ted Baxter. I wore my hairpiece for that show.

that also stars GENIE ANN FRANCIS. With the backdrop of models and fashion industry, Joel plays a fashion designer. He finds it amusing because, "All I own are two pairs of Levis. Maybe I have a suit, but it has wide lapels. Then again, in this movie I have my shirt off most of the time this fall."

"It was something that I thought I should be doing," Joel said of the series. "I said after 'Best of the West' ended that if something came along that I felt strongly about, I'd do it."

Several things attracted him to "Silver Spoons," according to Joel. For one thing, he felt the relationship between the wealthy father, who has never really accepted responsibility, and his son, who has been trained in military schools, was "a positive one. I don't like shows that are put-downs."

Also, unlike his role in "Best of the West," Joel decided that his "Spoons" character would be the "zany one. I'll be the funny one."

Then there's the fact that it's from NORMAN LEAR's comedy factory, which probably has more hits than anyone; and for Joel, situation comedies are attractive because they take less time to make. He once starred in an hour-long show, "Salvage One."

Production starts at the end of July, which gave Joel a chance to take a three-week vacation — he claims the longest rest period that he's had to date is four days, "because I get antsy. I'm not a good vacation-taker."

The trip began with stops in Wisconsin, Illinois and Ohio to see family, then on to New York to check out the jingle business Joel co-owns there. From New York, he went to Europe, with stops in London, Dublin, Paris and Venice. He's never been to any of these cities before.

"My last trip to Europe was after college and I got stuck in Spain for three months with no money. I couldn't get back," he now laughs.

Joel has just finished work on "Bare Essence," a four-hour movie for CBS

After some absence from television, MARLO THOMAS has signed with ABC for two specials to be aired next season. The first will be filmed on the streets of New York and also stars CHARLES GRODIN, who wrote it. The network says it is a romantic comedy.

HARVEY KORMAN has decided to try his hand at more directing than he has in the past. He'll be taking an active role in the new NBC series "Mama's Family" by making occasional appearances in the role of Ed that he originated on the old "Carol Burnett Show." He'll also direct many of the half-hour segments.

NBC has ordered additional episodes of "Teachers Only," the midseason comedy that did all right in the ratings. LYNN REDGRAVE and NORMAN FELLOWS will return in the series, but most of the supporting cast will be dropped, including ADAM ARKIN. No word on when the new half-hour will air, although NBC will probably slot it when another comedy has failed.

cause he "has a vested interest in the ongoing credibility of CBS News."

Margaret Ladd of TV's "Falcon's Crest" will be off the show temporarily since she's pregnant with twins. She says her doctor has determined that one of the babies will be a boy.

But they're not sure about the other one since, unlike Margaret, it chose to turn its back to the camera.

CBS is hoping viewers will split their sides chuckling at a new series about witchcraft.

The show is entitled "The Good Witch Of Laurel Canyon" and was written by a witch.

Producer Philip Mandelker calls writer Paul Huson "a lapsed witch," explaining that he's too busy writing to fiddle around with the like.

Bernstein says "most of our population is nearly 40 years old because of the World War II baby boom."

"And because of Women's Lib and ERA, women are keeping them in better shape."

When Bernstein isn't building images for his star-clients, he's serving as executive producer on "Bring 'Em Back Alive."

That's a new CBS series starring Bruce Boxleitner based loosely upon the adventures of the late Frank Buck.

Actor Bruce Boxleitner admits that his name is a bit unusual and that, in other years, a movie studio might have changed it.

But the star of the new TV series "Bring 'Em Back Alive" says he never considered changing his name.

He says his grandfather was still alive when he began acting and he never would have forgiven Bruce if he'd changed his name.

"He says he kept his name because he felt it owed to his grandfather.

Daniel Travanti says the stars of "Hill Street Blues" count each other's lines, but not out of jealousy.

Travanti says, "Each performer is interested in his or her character and is therefore alert to the length of time that character is on the screen."

"But there's no jealousy involved."
